

Strange Nature

Gin

SEEK STRANGE. FIND WONDER.

Inspired by experimentation and the discovery of something different, Strange Nature gets its name from its surprising origin and the unusual character that it instills. Finding its origins in (or rather out of) 0% alcohol New Zealand Sauvignon Blanc wine. Using innovative technology, the alcohol is gently extracted from the wine while preserving the natural aromas and flavors.

Tasting Notes:

Strange Nature bears all the quintessential flavors of its unique wine origins. Aromatic and fruity, it's part tropical and zesty, part herbaceous. Pristine and bold on the palate, with a juicy grape base shining through, finishing with an expressive blend of citrus and earthy characters.

Production:

Here at Strange Nature, we have the unique advantage of being able to produce gin from a traceable and trusted source. Born in a vineyard, Strange Nature has true terroir. When the alcohol is removed from the Giesen Estate Sauvignon Blanc to create Giesen 0%, the ethanol is redistilled with our only ingredient, and the one that defines gin – juniper. Less is more, and you can really taste it. The juniper comes from one source in North Macedonia. The rest of our stunning flavor and aroma profile comes from our unique base spirit.

ABV:

44%

Strange Nature Gin & Tonic:

1. Build glass with lots of ice.
2. Pour 1oz of Strange Nature Gin.
3. Top with Fever-Tree Mediterranean Tonic.
4. Lastly, garnish with a wedge of lemon and sprig of thyme or rosemary.

